2025 HBA Staff Appreciation Week

Flagler HBA (Palm Coast, Fla.)

Annamaria's leadership is inspirational. She has led us through discussions to have with our customers and is a champion for job growth in Flagler County. She also connects with city leaders to ensure compliance and transparency. I am honored to have her as a leader for growth and sustainability on behalf of our builders and contractors. Sam is proactive, friendly and will have your back. She rolls up her sleeves and treats the membership and office where we meet like a second home.

- Amy Dumas, member, shout-out for Annamaria Long and Samantha Dawson

Samantha is my right hand - and sometimes my left, too! It's one life's greatest blessings to get to work with your best friend and stay best friends. Samantha has grown so much as an individual and in her role as our Membership and Events Coordinator, bringing our membership and retention to a post-recession high and increasing our event attendance and profits. As I tell the Board, I'm only able to do my job at the level I am because she operates at such a high level. Thank you for all you do, Sammy!

- Annamaria Long, EO, shout-out for Samantha Dawson

Gisela is a "make-it-happen" Executive Officer! She takes the information that she gleans from State and National Meetings and applies them to the benefit of our local association. Just recently, she informed a former congressman in NC that the NAHB suggested October as Construction Careers month. Through her suggestion, the governor of NC declared a proclamation that October would be Construction in Careers month for all of North Carolina. Awesome job, Gisela!

- Ron Foister, HBA board of directors member, shout-out for Gisela Lopez, EO

Michelle is wonderful as our Marketing and Events Coordinator! She has raised (an already high) the bar on our Marketing efforts. We have seen, and heard, results from her efforts many times throughout the year. She is also a natural born encourager which makes us all look forward to seeing her at our meetings. Thank you, Michelle!

- Ron Foister, HBA board of directors member, shout-out for Michelle Whitaker

Ashley does an awesome job as our HBA Membership Coordinator! Her personality lends itself to being a great first line of communication to potential new members. We have also seen a direct correlation to our increase in membership tied to Ashley's recent joining of our staff. Way to go, Ashley!!! Keep up the good work.

- Ron Foister, HBA board of directors member, shout-out for Ashley Pack

A big shoutout to Michelle and Ashley! Their hard work, positive attitude, and dedication make such a difference every day. I am so grateful for all they do to support our members and keep everything running smoothly!

Housing & Building Association of Colorado Springs (Colo.)

Southern Colorado is the luckiest community in the nation to have this group of amazing, passionate, educated, cultured, resourceful, and enjoyable people on the planet!

- Natalie Ulven, member, shout-out for Marlo Asher, Marla Novak, Sheridan Stancliff, Emma Repp-Maxwell, Paula Vigil, Jillian Wallace, Johanna Hillgrove, Skylar Volkodav, Keira Conley, Quinn Hersey, Reeve Donner, Renee Zentz, Glenn Hard, and Lisa Weidenbach

If you ever wondered what the effect of an organized and well-led group of women can accomplish, look no further than the HBA of Colorado Springs. From the top down, this has been one of the most organized, well-structured, and openly inviting organizations I have been involved with. Our longstanding CEO stepped down after 20 years, and Marla Novak was unanimously elected to fill the role. Her experience with the inner workings of our chapter provided a smooth transition and strong confidence among the board of directors that we had made the right choice. You can feel the positive and united energy coming each of the staff as you engage with them. Every phone call is answered with the engagement of "this is important, how can I help" type of enthusiasm. Emails are answered in a timely manner with the requested information provided. As a builder-member, they make me feel supported and that I matter as a member. The staff each have their primary roles for which they were hired, but also support various other councils efforts like the remodelers council, PAC, Land use, public policy, code review, etc. As a member and past chairman of the remodelers council, I can personally attest to Paul Vigil's commitment to the council by her enthusiasm in supporting our goals that we develop and helping to organize the "back-office" operation of our council. The HBA is a member-driven and staff-supported organization. Without them, events and councils like the parade of homes, party on the mesa, PAC golf tournament, HBA Cares, and Emerging Leaders; would not perform at the level that we do. Our HBA staff is absolutely the duct tape that holds us together and the WD-40 that keeps us moving.

Santa Fe (N.M.) Area HBA

I have been a volunteer with the Santa Fe Area Home Builders Association for the past three years, before becoming EO starting September 1st. Tanya Dorame has been working for our association for 7 years now so I have seen her in action during my volunteering as well as the past two months in my position as EO. I want to give her a shoutout, well... because she deserves it!! We both attended the Fall Orientation/Training in D.C. this year and I am so glad that we did. We attended together and learned so many things - there was so much valuable information we learned about and connections that we made. I am sooooo glad that we both attended! As a former volunteer, I don't feel like I am coming into this role completely blind, thanks to the NAHB (based on the timing of my hiring) but mainly because of Tanya! I want to express my appreciation for Tanya and her continuous role in our organization because she deserves a shoutout! Not only because of her loyalty and commitment to our association over the past 7 years but also because she as a friend and huge support to me personally! Most of our events run on volunteer involvement and just two employees: an EO and Administrative Assistant/Membership Coordinator (Tanya!). I have only been EO for a short amount time but I have continuously expressed my gratitude for Tanya. She is 100% my left hand-women (except for when she is standing on my right side - then she is my right hand-women and I am so thankful for you her! I am so thankful that she has stuck-it-out the past few years and is still part of our HBA - I try to actively remind her how much I appreciate her daily but I hope that submitting this will show her how much I appreciate her!

- Marie Watson, EO, shout-out for Tanya Dorame

Sarah started in the office part time this year to work on social media and some paperwork in the office. She has since taken over organizing the office, cleaning out and moving stuff that has moved with us from office to office since 2020. The weight lifted because of uncluttering and having things organized was huge. She also puts our HBA out there front and center, always looking for members to give kudos to and making sure anything worth a pat on the back is noticed online. I love having her here and she has made my job SO much easier!

Greater Brazos Valley BA (College Station, Texas)

I want to take a moment to recognize our incredible Greater Brazos Valley Home Builders Association (GBVBA) team — Executive Officer JT Laramore and staff member Cindy Brown. JT stepped into the Executive Officer role following Rose Selman's well-earned retirement. Rose left behind big shoes to fill, and JT has done an outstanding job rising to the challenge. Coming from another HBA, he's navigated the unique dynamics, systems, and traditions of our association with grace and determination. He's embraced the learning curve, overcome hurdles, and already made impressive strides in modernizing our operations — improving processes, systems, and communications across the board. We're grateful for his leadership and excited to see how he'll continue to shape the future of our association. Cindy Brown has been our secret weapon for years when it comes to member engagement and retention. She has a genuine gift for building relationships and making every member feel valued and connected. Cindy's dedication to the GBVBA and her willingness to step up and support JT during his transition have been invaluable.
